On April 20, 1999, Craig Scott hid out in the school library as fellow students, Dylan Klebold and Eric Harris burst into the room shooting. Before the day was over, Craig would witness a close friend gunned down and killed before his very eyes, and later learn that his sister was the first of 36 victims in one of the deadliest school shootings in American history. After Craig's sister, Rachel's death, the Scott family discovered her journal where she had recorded many inspirational messages including

“Create a Chain Reaction through Random Acts of Kindness.”

Madill School PAWS FOR PEACE students cordially invite you to join us for this community event to hear Craig Scott speak. We are very fortunate to have Craig in our area. Now more than ever we need the support of our community to help promote positive change.
